

Headache

The Reytons

Been out since I left this morning
Hung up for the very last time tonight
Irate and you won't stop bawling
Enough said, you can't do wrong for right
I've seen that status that you put
You need to show yoursen I love
There's only so much I can take right now

So please put down your phone
'Cause I don't need the headache
And I don't need the aggro from your constant calling
While you're sat at home
Yeah I don't need the headache
And I don't need to answer 'cause it's pointless darling

Still out though, I know you're waiting
I lied when I said I wasn't gonna be long
I'm late and my legs vibrating
Give up 'cause I can't do right for wrong
I've seen those messages you send
But those blue ticks won't give me hope
There's only so much I can take right now

So please put down your phone
'Cause I don't need the headache
And I don't need the aggro from your constant calling
While you're sat at home
Yeah I don't need the headache
And I don't need to answer 'cause it's pointless darling

Hundred times you called me, that's a hundred times ignored
Why you going round in circles? We both been here before

How come we've no conversation?
Can't see your face 'cause you turned away
Flicking through the TV stations
Hummin' and you ain't got nowt to say
I know you're furious inside
One wrong word would set you off
I think it's best if we just leave it there

So please put down your phone
'Cause I don't need the headache
And I don't need the aggro from your constant calling
While you're sat at home
Yeah I don't need the headache
And I don't need to answer 'cause it's pointless darling

Hundred times you called me, that's a hundred times ignored
Why we going round in circles? We both been here, we both been here before

And I don't need the headache
Yeah I don't need the headache
And I don't need to answer 'cause it's pointless darling
