

I set my mind on ending
My lifelong dream of being happy
There's nothing left to lose
When you're standing underneath the

I set my heart on giving up
Everything I thought I could be
There's nothing left to choose
When all the winding roads are just a ruse

These are the things that are tearing up my soul (whole)
Could someone make me whole
The voice in me is crystal clear
It speaks to me in times of fear
And rids me of the longing for decay

A different kind of dying has to happen today
So lead the way, lead the way
A different kind of dying has to happen today
So lead the way, lead the way

'Cause I don't wanna go on throwing this life away
So lead the way, lead the way
A different kind of dying has to happen today
So lead the way, lead the way

So lay out your blueprints and tables and plans
There is no fear when I'm safe in your hands
Take me, and break me, and make me again
All of the pieces are yours now to mend

Lay out your blueprints and tables and plans (whole)
There is no fear when I'm safe in your hands
So take me, and break me, and make me again (whole)
All of the pieces are yours now to mend whole

Whole
Whole

These wings have been taking me places again
Now I'm no farther than when I began
Here, washed ashore, tracing prints in the sand
They're leading me back, oh, they're leading me back