

So Underhanded

The Rubettes

Sitting in my lonely room
Waiting for you to call
I just keep on loving you
In spite of it all
But life can be so cruel
When nobody lends a hand
And what your doing to me now
I so underhanded

So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
You have become, all the you done
Leaving me stranded, so underhanded

You said that you were home last night
Reading a book or two
Another lie so maybe I mean
Nothing to you
You never keep your promises
And I just don't understand
The misery your giving me
Is so underhanded

So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
You have become, all the you done
Leaving me stranded, so underhanded

What did I say, what have I done
What made you turn your back and run
Did the flame inside you just go out

So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
So underhanded, so underhanded
