Call It A Lullaby

The Scene Aesthetic

I've started to pick myself up, 'cause I've fallen to far to admit
It's my fault for considering it
And these lies go too far to cover them up so I fall
It's my fault and I have to admit, you were wrong
It's about time I stood up, give myself sometime to forgive Listen up and start writing it in
'Cause these lines are screwed up, I wish I could ignore all the things
It's your fault for considering it

And you've finally started seeing yourself through my eyes
Found time and I have to admit you were right
Yes you were and I'm proud to announce that in time you'll feel fine, you'll feel fine

'Cause you're taking control, making sure that you've got things figured out
I'm finally taking control, 'cause I've got things in better perspective now
And I want you to know, that we're expecting the best, we're expecting amazing things from you
Break out of this home broken town and I've got something for you

Leave me to my desperation, have somethings that might just hold me back from it
I've got time and an ear to listen and a feeling that you're really needing this Cant help it and I'm really sorry, I'm hurting more than I have ever hurt before Crossed lines and a calm surrender, lots of compassion but you've got no where to go

And I've finally started seeing myself through your eyes
Found time and you have to admit I was right
Yes you were and I'm proud to announce that with time I'll feel fine, I'll feel fine.

Cause you're taking control, making sure that you've got things figured out
I'm finally taking control, 'cause I've got things in better perspective now
And I want you to know, that we're expecting the best, we're expecting amazing things from you
Break out of this home broken town and I've got something for you

Saved me from myself today, heard from someone you needed to be saved