

Comeback

The Score

Run out of words to say
You're broken down and tired
I know this world can make
Us feel so small sometimes
It's hard to know,
Where the right way goes

Remember yesterday
You're trying to find that fighter
Who pushed through all the pain
But now can't find their fire
Deep inside
It's time to come alive

And come back like the sun breaks the day
It's time to come back without being afraid
We need to come back stronger than we were before

When it gets hard to breathe
You don't know how to hide it
You lost what you believe
You don't know how to find it
Don't let go
Of everything you know

We'll make the mountains shake
We'll watch them as they crumble
Promise to always stay
In case you ever stumble
Trace your steps
And get back up again

And come back like the sun breaks the day
It's time to come back without being afraid
We need to come back stronger than we were before

And come back like the stars in the sky
It's time to come back, no matter the price
We need to come back stronger than we were before

What you waiting
What you waiting
What you waiting for?

What you waiting
What you waiting
What you waiting for?

What you waiting
What you waiting
What you waiting for?

What you waiting for?

Come back like the sun breaks the day
It's time to come back without being afraid
We need to come back stronger than we were before

And come back like the stars in the sky
We need to come back, no matter the price
We need to come back stronger than we were before

What you waiting
What you waiting
What you waiting for?

What you waiting
What you waiting
What you waiting for?
