

Deep End

The Score

Took a dive off the deep end just to find myself again
Took a dive off the deep end just to see if I could swim
You either rise to the top or you sink to the bottom but you can't stay in the shallow
I took a dive off the deep end just to find myself, to find myself again
To find myself, to find myself again

The face in the mirror's been haunting me
Lately I find it hard to breathe
Trying to reset and move along
But I feel the current is getting strong

I miss the feel of adrenaline
'Cause all of the same shit is wearing thin
And I been taking off like a timebomb
Wondering where it all went wrong

(Oh oh)
Fill my lungs with air
(Oh oh)
Searching for a prayer

Took a dive off the deep end just to find myself again
Took a dive off the deep end just to see if I could swim
You either rise to the top or you sink to the bottom but you can't stay in the shallow
I took a dive off the deep end just to find myself, to find myself again
To find myself, to find myself again

Walking a wire inside my brain
Searching for color in shades of gray
Dying to kickstart and find a spark
'Cause lately the daylight is looking dark

I feel it taking over
This fire in my soul
The water's getting colder
But my heart's not letting go

(Oh oh)
Fill my lungs with air
(Oh oh)
Searching for a prayer

Took a dive off the deep end just to find myself again
Took a dive off the deep end just to see if I could swim
You either rise to the top or you sink to the bottom but you can't stay in the shallow
I took a dive off the deep end just to find myself, to find myself again
To find myself, to find myself again

To find myself again
To find myself again