

No Reason

The Screaming Jets

There's a hole in my brain from the memory of you
I don't know where it's gone, it just kind of broke loose
Don't know who you are, haven't got a single clue
'Cause this hole in my head let's all my memories fall through

If you show me yours, I'll show you mine

I'm on my way, I'm a leavin'
I've got nothing to prove
I'm getting lost for no reason
Not a moment too soon

I've been thinking lately how others complicate me
Say my life is wrong and tell me how to act
Never any kindness, right here, not behind us
It's an all out attack
Will I ever know and do I even care
You can't lose something that was never there
We make our lives out of chaos and love
Getting through the day is all you're thinking of

I need answers, I've been waiting on a sign

I'm on my way, I'm a leavin'
I've got nothing to lose
I'm getting lost for no reason
Not a moment too soon
If you feel like you're going nowhere
It don't make sense
Remember when you're out there
That I could not care less

There's a hole in my brain from the memory of you
I don't know who you are, I'm lost for clues
It's time for me to get out, change my skin
'Cause the one that I'm wearing, let's the water in

Well, I'm just treading water, I'm way ahead of time

I'm on my way, I'm a leavin'
I've got nothing to prove
I'm getting lost for no reason
Not a moment too soon
If you feel like you're going nowhere
It don't make sense
Remember when you're out there
That I could not care less
