Shadows

The Screaming Jets

Standing, staring at myself, scream back at me
I can't be here anymore, the shadow won't let me be I'd really like some company, just for an hour or two
Would a break help you to breathe, help see it through

You fight, win or lose, it's all you can do
I don't need a reason when you start believin'
The shadow hides the truth

The door's unlocked, come inside, just let yourself in
What we do you decide, I just need a conversation

You fight, win or lose, it's all you can do
I don't need a reason when you start believin'
The shadow hides the truth

Well, I'm not sad and you're not lonely
Right now I've had enough of me
When you're left all alone
It's only shadows I see

You fight, you win, you lose, it's all you can do
You are the reason for what I believe in
Is the shadow me or is it you?
I can only see myself
Why can't I see me?
Stuck inside of this revolving door
Shadows to the right and to the left of me

You fight, you win, you lose, there's nothing you can do
I don't need a reason when you start believin'
Shadow hides the truth

I need to be alone tonight
Like I'd leave you alone
