

Watching The Grass Grow

The Screaming Jets

Well, you can't buy me for a dollar, and you can't call me your brother. No
You can't sell your shit to me, I don't want your shit anywhere near me

Cause watching you is like watching the grass grow
You know that you still need a reminder
I'm watching you with all your self righteous attitudes
Pushing me so far, so far away

Well, I never could suffer a fool, they just get me into a rage Well, I don't wanna have a drink from your bottle, I wanna shake your fucking cake

Cause watching you is like watching the grass grow
You know that you still need a reminder
I'm watching you with all your self righteous attitudes
Pushing me so far, so far away from you

Pack up your shit and go home to mommy, boy. She's the only one who can love you
You better laugh up her affection, no other motherfucker would love to

Watching you is just like watching the grass grow
You think you know, but you still need a reminder See, I'm watching you so close, with all your self righteous at titudes
