

Building Bridges

The Seekers

Building, we are building bridges
Building, we are building bridges

There is no hurt so deep that we cannot heal
No love that I can give that you cannot feel
No feelings of sadness that cannot turn to smiles
If we keep building our bridges across the lonely paths

For all the tears you've cried, I have offered to replace them
For all the fears you have, I will help you face them
Let me be the harbor for your tired and weary heart
Together we can make it, and together we can start

Building bridges, healing hearts
Tender words making brand new starts
Love be our guide, and light a way (and light a way)
We're building bridges every day
We're building bridges every day
(Building, we are building bridges)

It's time for reaching out, there is new life to be tasted
It's time to make up for, all the years that have been wasted
It's time to make the journey from the darkness to the sun
And the most important thing is that we truly have begun

Building bridges, healing hearts
Tender words making brand new starts
Love be our guide, and light a way (and light a way)
We're building bridges every day
We're building bridges every day
(Oh) We're building bridges every day
(Building, we are building bridges)

(Building, we are building bridges)
Let there be the harbor for your tired and weary heart
(Building, we are building bridges)
It's time to make a journey, from the darkness to the sun
(Building, we are building bridges)
Yes we are building bridges, and we truly have begun
(Building, we are building bridges)
