

I'll Never Learn

The Shangri-Las

Sit here thinkin'
Thinkin' bout the happy times we used to have
Now they're gone forever
I still have to wait for their return
I'll never learn, I'll never learn
My eyes they burn from sleepless nights cryin' (cryin')

Here I am in a dream
Walking through a purple mist
Double flow and clouds of blue
Are waiting to be kissed, to be loved by you
There's a fog coming through the fog machine and prayin'
That now she's got somewhere beneath the fog to be in
And the fog takes the shape of love
That is real and it's true and it's you

But I wake up
Sit here, thinkin'
Thinkin' bout the happy times we used to have
Now they're gone forever
I still have to wait for their return
No, I'll never learn I'll never learn
My eyes they burn from sleepless cryin'

Here I am in a dream immersed in a liquid sea of love
Shivering rainbow bubbles surf the sky above
A looking glass that reflects the past
Time will see me all around like pillows upside down
Race my heart, race my soul surround
I knew you'd laugh and laugh and hold my body fast

But I wake up
Sittin' here, thinkin'
Thinkin' bout the happy times we used to have
Now they're gone forever
I still have to wait for their return
No, I'll never learn I'll never learn
My eyes they burn from sleepless cryin' (Cryin')
Sleepless cryin'
