

Step Inside

The Sherlocks

You'll never change
You'd love a world of your own that hails your name
You never did act your age
You couldn't grow up I bet you're the same

You better dry your eyes
You better say goodbye to love
And what you're dreaming of
So come step inside
I'll be yours but you'll never be mine my love

You're so far away
But what you're feeling the most is you're not getting closer
To the prize at the end of the day
Well some things are better left alone
Like a fly on the wall
Cos they see it all and you know that they couldn't care less
Where it goes could be anyone's guess

You better dry your eyes
You better say goodbye to love
And what you're dreaming of
So come step inside
I'll be yours but you'll never be mine my love

You better dry your eyes
You better say goodbye to love
And what you're dreaming of
So come step inside
I'll be yours but you'll never be mine my love
