

Turn The Clock

The Sherlocks

In it funny how we ended up like this?
Finished on good terms
But I know you wish we should put have put all behind
The proof's in the text but I never reply

No, I don't wanna talk today
What more can I possibly say to drill it into your head
When the things I've already said
Ten times before

I love how you turn it around
Retrace your steps
Then you flip it upside down
So there's no way you could be wrong

You feel like your life's on hold
You've said it before
But I want you to know
But we're banging on doors
Just to see if we can knock one down
But if you'd stick around
We'd watch them fall to the floor

It's way too late to turn the clock
Just too late to turn around and stop for a second
Now time isn't on your side

It's been two weeks of hide and seeks
Dodging phone calls and accidentally meaning
To keep out your way
Cause there's nothing to say
While I'm right, and you're wrong

So why, why did you feel
The need to try and take hold of the wheel?
I'm sorry, but I don't wanna play this game no more
We're heading for a fall

It's way too late to turn the clock
Just too late to turn around and stop for a minute
Now time isn't on your side

It's way too late to turn the clock
Just too late to turn around and stop for a minute
Cashing in your winnings and go
Easy come, easy go

Isn't funny how we ended up like this?
I know you've convinced yourself
But there's nothing more you can give

And if you feel like 'what just happened? '
But you know it's for the best
You'll be one step closer to forgetting me

And if it's not real
And you can't understand

That it was never meant to be
Then there's clearly something wrong
Cause I'm afraid you're not the one for me
