

Lightning Strikes

The Shires

Standin' outside, rainin' in the summer
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe you and I were too young
Didn't even know what love was

Can't remember how we left this
Was it you, or did I end it?
Stupid kids runnin' reckless
We both learned our lessons
But we're older now
It didn't all work out
But I'll never forget it
Still got the necklace

Funny runnin' into you here
After all of these years

Standin' outside, rainin' in the summer
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe you and I were too young
Didn't even know what love was (just maybe)
Kissin' me hard, rollin' in the thunder
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe it just wasn't our time
Maybe it will never be right

Or maybe lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
Lightning strikes twice

Can we go back, can we go back?
To the late nights in the streetlights
In your parents' cul-de-sac
I was so in love with that
And I know that I should know better
We should leave the past in the past, but
What are the chances that
We can go back, can we go back?

Standin' outside, rainin' in the summer
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe you and I were too young
Didn't even know what love was (just maybe)
Kissin' me hard, rollin' in the thunder
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe it just wasn't our time
Maybe it will never be right

Or maybe lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
Lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
Lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
Lightning strikes twice (just maybe)

Standin' outside, rainin' in the summer
Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe you and I were too young
Didn't even know what love was (just maybe)
Kissin' me hard, rollin' in the thunder

Will you remind me why we ain't lovers?
Maybe it just wasn't our time

Can we go back? (Just maybe)
Kissin' me hard, rollin' in the thunder

Lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
Lightning strikes twice (just maybe)
