

A Memory

The Skids

So long now
It seems as though it passed me by
And never thought to say to me

Will you no, come back again

So long now,
A memory of promises
Look and say quite distantly

Will you no, come back again

So long

So long now
The loneliness of honesty
Exposed and cost indifferently

Will you no, come back again

So long now,
The last remain of faithfulness
So long now

Will you no, come back again

So long

So long now
It seemed as though it's passed me by
So long now
A memory of promises
So long now
I change again so easily
So long now
The loneliness of honesty
Called and said goodbye to me, so long now,

Will you no, come back again.

Lie, lie, lie, lie.