

The Forest For The Trees

The Skints

To say that we are all the same is a delusion
But from that please draw not negative conclusion
For I mean not to say that we should not be Every single race as one in equality
For without one another the world would turn flat
It matters not how many names are on your family map
For the tree of life is enormous and relates to all of we
So open up your eyes and see

The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree

So don't chop we down Mr Lumberer
And if you should succeed
Piece we back together Mr Carpenter
In a labour of love for humanity

I rate it, reckon I'd like it like I rock opportunity
And I roll on regardless, run and build a forest for the tree
I rested inna mi space until it started to relate to me
Respect inna the world, oh well I'm ready see
For without one another, won't grow, we know the world inevitably crack
It's not how many men ah reckon ours is the land
For the land in which we fell in too requires a greater need
So open up your eyes and see

The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree

So don't chop we down Mr Lumberer
And if you should succeed
Piece we back together Mr Carpenter
In a labour of love for humanity

Well I tell now if you have a forest then you've got to have a tree
And if you have a beehive then it must contain a bee
Follow me now if you're boiling a teapot then you must in brew it tea
Cos no man is an island as it was sung by the one Dennis B
So big up the people that promote them individuality
Rationality and humility, vibes and factuality
And you're wanting to act like you and me are the same but in actuality
I don't try and derive my pride blind from my nationality, no way

The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree

The forest for the tree
The forest for the tree
