

Because

The Slackers

Because you were my friend
Never shall we meet again
Because you understood
Only bad can come from good
Because you finally heard
Never more another word
Because, because, because, because
Baby
Because, because, because, because

Because I loved you most
Both of us must turn to ghosts
Because I loved you best
All this love must turn to death
Because you were my friend
Never shall we speak again
Because, because, because, because
Baby

'Cause you're not near me

And you can hear me
Because you hear me
And you're not near me

If we had never met
There'd be nothing to forget
Because I can't pretend
We should never meet again
Because you finally heard
And never thought another word
Because, because, because, because
Baby

Because you hear me
And you're not near me
Because you'll hear me
And you're not near me

It's a good argument
Not to make another friend
It's a good argument
Not to fall in love again
