

Sense of Humor

The Starting Line

I can't explain it to them
Don't know what they're gonna say
And so I shudder to think
When the feedback comes to ring
Try not to panic just yet
It's all part of the routine
Still feels demented no less
What could they want with me

I've had a taste of my own medicine
Not always a treat
Though I've been working on more than myself
I'll be the first one to tell you that

I'll never be replaced
I know it in my heart
It's got to be this strange
Evident from the start
Everything is absurd
Best just to laugh it off
Although a grain of salt
May not be quite enough anymore (Wooo)

It's still romantic to me
In a certain kind of way
Will go down nevertheless
As the darkest comedy
And I've been trying to convince myself
Twilight of a dream
Here comes shining from the brighter side
Now I think it's finally sinking in

I'll never be replaced
I know it in my heart
It's got to be this strange
Evident from the start
Everything is absurd
Best just to laugh it off
Although a grain of salt
May not be quite enough anymore

Don't ever lose your
Sense of humor
Don't ever lose your
Sense of humor
Don't ever lose your
Sense of humor
Don't ever lose your
Sense of humor

Don't ever lose your (Don't ever lose your)
Sense of humor (Sense of humor)
Don't ever lose your (Don't ever lose your)
Sense of humor (Sense of humor)
Don't ever lose your (Don't ever lose your)
Sense of humor (Sense of humor)
Don't ever lose your (Don't ever lose your)

Sense of humor

Won't be replaced
I know it in my heart
It's got to be this strange
Evident from the start
It's best just laughing it off
Because everything is absurd
Although one grain of salt
Will never be quite enough anymore (Don't ever lose your)
Not good enough anymore (Sense of humor)

Don't ever lose your
Sense of humor
