

Forgive

The SteelDrivers

Love is patient, love is kind
But even love gets pushed around right up to the line
When the one breaking your heart is begging on their knees
It's love's defining moment, tell me, what's it gonna be?
Tell me, what's it gonna be?

Forgive, forgive a million times
Forgive as if you can't remember, just because it's right
Forgive, forgive it all away
Forgive to live to love another day

If the devil's in the details, brother, kick that joker out
'Cause he'll raise up every insult just to hear you scream and shout
Well, he wants love all torn up, he wants love keepin' score
Now, brother, you better run him off so he won't come back no more
So he won't come back no more

Forgive, forgive a million times
Forgive as if you can't remember, just because it's right
Forgive, forgive it all away
Forgive to live to love another day

Forgive, forgive a million times
Forgive as if you can't remember, just because it's right
Forgive, forgive it all away
Forgive to live to love another day, yeah

Forgive, forgive a million times
Forgive as if you can't remember, just because it's right
Forgive, forgive it all away
Forgive to live to love another day
Forgive to live to love another day