

Down

The Strike

Remember the time
When we could break hearts like a storybook
By dropping a line
We said we were on our way
Just a little behind
Who cares if you're lost when you got the look

Another night wondering where we are
Even though we were sober at the bar
Another night trying to play a part
To heal the broken hearts

And we danced where the good kids hide away
Like young lovers on a stage yeah
And we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down
And I still think of that first Saturday
Can't let the memory fade nah
Cause we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down

Remember the lights
Hot as the sun in a crowded room
The look in their eyes
They said we were on our way
While we work on the side
Daydreaming through every afternoon

Another night sleeping in the car
Wondering what we're even looking for
Burning the gas that we can't afford
To heal the broken hearts

And we danced where the good kids hide away
Like young lovers on a stage yeah
And we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down
And I still think of that first Saturday
Can't let the memory fade nah
Cause we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down
All the way down down down
We're tearing it back down
All the way down down down
We're tearing it back down

And they still call up the radio stations
And ask us how we're not so frustrated
Because they saw us way back in 15
And I say I'm not sure where the time goes
And here we are in the same situation
But every time it's like a new revelation
For every dreamer in a town fast asleep
Here's a place you can call your home

And we danced where the good kids hide away
Like young lovers on a stage yeah

And we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down
And I still think of that first Saturday
Can't let the memory fade nah
Cause we could rock this town
Tear it all the way back down
All the way down down down
We're tearing it back down
All the way down down down
We're tearing it back down
