

Let Down

The Strumbellas

I've been wasting all this daylight
Chasing what just ain't right
Tryna make it work

These late nights
Turning into stage fright
We stumble into fake fights
With words that make no sense

Now I'm shouting at these walls
But I still can't make 'em fall
'Cause they're holding onto everything they saw

I'll never be your let down, honey
Even when we're saying things that we'll regret
Maybe one day it'll just be funny
When we talk about the things that we once said

And we'll shout and we'll scream
Say the things we don't mean
But I'm here if you're still holding on
I'll never be your let down, honey
I'll never be your let down, let down

Sometimes when I'm out of my mind
Emotions been on standby
Staring at the other side

I will always come back running
To feel your heartbeat drumming
With hopes that we'll collide

Now I'm trying to hold on to
All the things that I once knew
But I'll always find my way back home to you

I'll never be your let down, honey
Even when we're saying things that we'll regret
Maybe one day it'll just be funny
When we talk about the things that we once said

And we'll shout and we'll scream
Say the things we don't mean
But I'm here if you're still holding on
I'll never be your let down, honey
I'll never be your let down, let down

You always feel my
Always feel my heart beat running
You always feel my
Always feel my
Always feel my

I'll never be your let down, honey
Even when we're saying things that we'll regret
Maybe one day it'll just be funny
When we talk about the things that we once said

And we'll shout and we'll scream
Say the things we don't mean
But I'm here if you're still holding on
I'll never be your let down, honey
I'll never be your let down, let down
I'll never be your let down, honey
I'll never be your let down, let down
