The Superjesus

wasting all that I desired would bring me down again and I could keep it all inside but it's just about becoming now I'm under the sun wont anyone see that I'm alive through the days that will ride with me all through the night I'll be braving the winters the best that I know 'cause nothings the same when you wait for something I was alone 'till I thought it was better that way. Static, draining in my eyes It's all that I could see and time would never sympathise it's just enough to save me now I'm hoping to stay seconds away from all that I can be every time that I run from you and run from me... CHORUS now I'm under the sun wont anyone see that I'm alive every time that I fall asleep and still survive... CHORUS nothing follows me down again...