

Let It Go

The Superjesus

It's freezing in here, the wrong atmosphere
Telling me something again
I'm never awake to relish the ache
Telling me something again

And now this territory's so unfamiliar
Follow the sign, measure the wine
What's in the message for me
I'm talking to you still talking it through

What's in the message for me
And now this territory's so unfamiliar

'Cause I could talk all night, and we could sink so low
But I'm saving something more and I'll never let it go
And I could talk all night and it's the road we know
But I'm saving something more and I'll never let it go

My fingers are blue and pointed at you
Wait for the weather to come
The world we create, we'll all radiate
Wait for the weather to come
And now this territory's so unfamiliar

'Cause I could talk all night and we could sink so low
But I'm saving something more and I'll never let it go
And I could talk all night and it's the road we know
But I'm saving something more and I'll never let it go

Get up, don't let it go, following the only thing I know
Give in and give up, no, body's ever gonna let it go
