

Iru Kanji

The Supervillains

entire life before your eyes things I'd done right, things I'd do over flashing bright before your eyes the last thing you see before it's over come to the light, take off your clothes a foolish mind kept out of focus no other line, no dial tone this hourglass just burst wide open lifted up by the light inside horizons open wide, entire skies brighter than a ball of fire open your eyes to that higher vibration with no destination looking through the eyes of the universe somewhere between the day and night is a perfect time, enjoy the moment bleed out the poison from our lines release this jellyfish back to the ocean