

Drop By Drop

The Sweepings

Sink in under the water and breathe deep It's getting harder to stay afloat when you hang on Slowly, slipping in farther and loosing the battle we started A silence sound envelops me

If I could have opened my eyes so I could see where I'd land, I would've never fallin' for you There'd be no tears in my eyes, no beating in my chest, as drop
by drop fills the sea

Broken, crumbled to pieces and searching, for just one more rea son to pull it together and just move on Miss the heat of the fire as your arms where holding me tight, and all the moments in between

would've never fallin' for you
by drop fills the sea

I've been treading water and have poured out my soul, buried th e pieces and let you go

would've never fallin' for you
by drop fills the sea

Sink in, under the water and breathe deep, it's getting hard to stay afloat when you hang on
