(The Night the Sky Cried) Tears of Fire

The Sword

It was a relic of another time Plundered from an ancient tomb Wrought by forgotten arts Inscribed with cryptic runes

They called us fierce marauders Warp riders and guns for hire Before the sky cried tears of fire

Looking out across the void
We beheld a fearsome sight
Two armadas arrayed before us
Preparing to unleash their might

The Lady kept her promise
We heard the sound of a cosmic choir
The night the sky cried tears of fire

This is the hour of the Phoenix When all must be reborn in flame And though they did not know it Nothing could remain the same

The captain has his vengeance Aw we drift through a sea of pyres The stars will always remember When the sky cried tears of fire