Ordinary World

The Temper Trap

All is quiet down by the old sugar mill
Everything but the wind is all so still
Left behind till the rust blended
Once upon a time you were here

'Cause everything we know is gone
Everything we've lost and found
We were just walking through an ordinary world
And all our favourite things are gone
And the last dance is done
We were just lovers in an ordinary world

What are we if not memories
It's been years since 2051
That was when I last heard you call my name
But if someone's out there please give me a sign

'Cause everything we know is gone
Everything we've lost and found
We were just walking through an ordinary world
And all our favourite things are gone
And the last dance is done
We were just lovers in an ordinary world

All is quiet down by the old sugar mill,
I'm the last one still standing here
