

I Close My Eyes

The Tiny

I close my eyes and fantasize
That you turn turn turn turn
And when your eyes meet mine
Your heart will burn burn burn burn
And I throw myself into the flames
When my body is black and dry
You can tell
If I've been lost and found
If together we will leave this town
If you could just turn around
If you could just turn around
So I can be lost and found

I close my eyes and fantasize
That you turn turn turn turn
And when your eyes meet mine
My heart will burn burn burn burn
And you'll throw yourself into the flames
When my body is black and dry
You can tell
If I've been lost and found
If together we will leave this town
I crawl out underneath my shell
Through the fire
Through the horns and the bells
I will hear you sing my song
Then with you I'll know is where I belong
And soon the rain will fall
And wash away the ashes of the old me
Spread it along the river
Ashes of doubt ???
It will be floating with her
Forming on the shoreline
Make a turn turn turn turn
As you and I burn burn burn burn

We throw ourselves into the flames
When my body is black and dry
You can tell
If I've been lost and found
If together we will leave this town
I crawl out underneath my shell
Through the fire
Through the horns and the bells
I will hear you sing my song
Then with you I'll know is where I belong
If you could just turn around
If you could just turn around
I can be lost and found
