

Razor Cut

The Toasters

Some people live their lives in ignorant bliss
Some people wear their pride like scars on their wrist
I take life straight, with a bit of a twist
Nobody told me it would end up like this

Because when I ask for more
That's when I find you on the bathroom floor

You bend me out of shape like modelling clay
You can twist me almost every way
There's been too much violence, too much pain
I can't make it through another day

Because when I ask for more
That's when I find you on the bathroom floor

I said Danger! Danger! There's a man with a knife
I said look out girl you're in the light
I come right in on cue but forget all the lines
Who said that getting ahead was a capital crime

Because when I ask for more
That's when I find you on the bathroom floor