

I'll Find Someone Who Will

The Trews

Give the people what they want
They're taken with your charm
Will your smile light up the room
And set off the alarm
That will bring us to our feet
Yeah we all know the drill
But you better break my heart real soon
Or I'll find someone who will

You can play your old guitar
You've broken every string
All your dreams are broken too
Death where is thy sting?
You wound me but do you have the nerve
To come in for the kill?
Break my heart, you'd better do it soon,
Or I'll find someone who will

If you don't break my heart real soon I'll find someone who will
If you don't break my heart real soon I'll find someone
who will
If you don't break my heart real soon I'll find someone
who will
If you don't break my heart real soon I'll find someone
who will

Tear it apart
I wanna loose myself in your song
So you think that you're smart
But nobody's singing along

Tear it apart
I wanna loose myself in your song
So you think that you're smart
But nobody's singing along
So look me square in the eye
Hello's as good as goodbye

Waiting for your grand reply
You're never one to choke
C'mon baby light my fire
And I'll inhale the smoke

Your silence frankly deafens me
So much space to fill
If you don't break my heart real soon
If you don't break my heart real soon
If you don't break my heart real soon
I'll find someone who will

If you don't break my heart real soon
I'll find someone who will
If you don't break my heart real soon
I'll find someone who will
Tear it apart
