

Everything You Say Is Right

The Undertones

What you said was the truth
In the end there's only me and you
But then I was obliged to be blind

And everything you say is right
Everything I do is wrong
And you're right
Everything I do is wrong

It's okay, I admit
That it's hard to put the brakes on it
I was true, and you knew as you do

And everything you say is right
Everything I do is wrong
But you're right
Everything I do is wrong

I always say things to impress my friends
I don't get out of bed when the hangover ends
A room full of books that you know I'll never read
I'm spending all our money on the things we never need

Everything I do is wrong
And you're right
Everything I do is wrong
(Everything you say is right)
'Cause you're right
Everything I do is wrong
(Everything you say is right)
But you're right
Everything I do is wrong
