

Primitive Man

The Vaccines

Even when you get hurt
You don't ever feel pain
You're committed to a good time
All I do is I complain
I wanna feel better
As soon as I can
And I want you of course
But it just never goes to plan

There is gold in the mouth of the silvery sky
With a head full of ice and a drink in its eye

As I vomit - your primitive man
I promise you - I'm changing, I am
And my love flickers but it remains
I'm at your wedding now - you're not taking my name

I don't wanna go down
I don't wanna decline
Hey - no worries if we do though
All my favourite people die
I wanna get better
As soon as I can
And you know me of course
I just don't know who I am

There is gold in the mouth of the silvery sky
With a head full of dread and a drink in its eye

As I vomit - your primitive man
I promise you - I'm changing, I am
And my love flickers but it remains
I'm at your wedding now - you're not taking my name

As I vomit - your primitive man
I promise you - I'm changing, I am
And my love flickers but it remains
I'm at your wedding now - still don't know why I came
