

The World I Wanted

The Veer Union

The world I've wanted is drowning me

Can you see inside my bloodshot eyes
One step closer to the dream that dies
I search for the strength to release my rage
But my mind's bolted down inside this cage

So how can I go on?
Is there anything left for me?
Is there anything left to see?
This world I've wanted is drowning me
Is there anything left to be?
Is there anything left to breathe?
This world I've wanted is drowning me

My life of color turns to shades of gray
Slowly my soul strips away from me

So how can I go on?
Is there anything left for me?
Is there anything left to see?
This world I've wanted is drowning me
Is there anything left to be?
Is there anything left to breathe?
This world I've wanted is drowning me

I keep holding on
I must still believe
I keep trying and trying
For so long
I keep holding on
I'm still incomplete
I've been trying and trying
For so long
I've been trying and trying
For so long

Is there anything left for me?
Is there anything left to see?
This world I've wanted is drowning me
Is there anything left to be?
Is there anything left to breathe?
This world I've wanted is drowning me
This world I've wanted is drowning me
This world I've wanted is drowning me
This world I've wanted
