

Feels Like

The View

My old girl has really started bringing me down
Sleeping with every single guy in town
And I don't think her father knows just yet
Turning all our goodness into shame

And it feels like
Everyone is laughing at me
And the torture
Is a little more than I can believe

She's a woman, a woman with the presence of queens
But pretending that I can't be the man of her dreams
Is really something, I think she should stop
Come on home to me and give it up

And it feels like
Everyone is laughing at me
And the torture
Need a little pain relief

And it feels like this
When I can't find your big red lips to kiss
And it feels like this
Oh honey, it feels like this, living alone

Yeah, I'm repeating a nightmare, it seems
Can't remember the stuff that's through the streams
Yeah, I'm living a nightmare, not a dream

And it feels like this
When I can't find your big red lips to kiss
And it feels like this
Oh honey, it feels like this

Living alone

And it feels like
And the torture
Need a little pain relief

And it feels like
Everyone is laughing at me
And the torture
Need a little pain relief
