Now you'd be in a worry if time was in a hurry
Grab your makeup and clean your soul
Get steaming up the kettle
To sort out the settle in your bloodstream
Your letters on the fridge needs jumbled as ye pardon down the bridge, ye
Let's have a couple and move on the double if you'd like dear?
There's not much more you can do here

You know your mother's alright
Standard!
She is the cat in the fight
Standard!
So look into the mirror and keep it all together
You know your mum's alright

Oh, you'd have been a little late if the flood was at the gate
But Mr Sandman was on her side
She'd been rolling over if the wake and her daughter was grieving
You know she loves it when you sing that song
The one that in the eyes of memory
I love it when you sing that song
You feel it right to the core, girl
So stop howling at the back-world

You know your mother's alright
Standard!
She is the cat in the fight
Standard!
So look into the mirror and keep it all together
You know your mother's alright
She is the cat in the fight
So look into the mirror and see what they can see
Only I can see!
You know your mother's alright
Standard!
She is the cat in the fight
Standard!
Look into the mirror and keep it all together
You know your mum's alright
You know your mother's alright
Standard!
She is the cat in the fight
Standard!
Look into the mirror and keep it all together
You know your mum's alright
Standard!
You know your mum's alright
Standard!
You know your mum's alright
Standard!
