

Deadlier Than The Male

The Walker Brothers

She whispers oh such pretty lies
Don't believe her
For when she looks into your eyes
Love just isn't there

Brother, beware
Take care, my brother, take care

For the female of the species is deadlier than the male

The smile that made a dream begin
Clouds your vision
It's just the shadow of a dream
That you're living in

She never cared
Beware, my brother, beware

For the female of the species is deadlier than the male

Memories of kisses on a summer's day
That's all she left you when she went away
Now, you pay!

By walking streets, you'll never know
When the night comes
Sitting at places that you go
Hoping she'll be there

Brother, beware
Take care, my brother, take care

For the female of the species is deadlier than the male