

Feels Like Summer Again

The Wallflowers

My mind is open and my heart is full
I ain't got any weight that I can't pull
And right now I know that anything is possible

I'm gonna bang my drum, blow my horn
I forget what these pills were ever for
I believe I won't need them anymore

I used to burn candles at both ends
Now I just throw the whole damn thing right in Now playing in traffic is easy once you learn where you get in

You wanna come with me then get on board
Now get in or get out, use either door
The future is calling and it's me that it's looking for

'Cause it feels like summer again
I was thinking that it just might never begin
After winter and spring
It's good to have the sun on my face again

I wear big boots, I know I do
I ain't envious of anybody's shoes
I wear 'em loose, yeah maybe that's why it bothers you

I'm building my ship, stick by stick
And when the waters get rough, I'm getting in
The motion of the waves, it does not make me sick

'Cause it feels like summer again
I was thinking that it just might never begin
After winter and spring
It's good to have the sun on my face again

I buried my horse in a shallow grave
And I said a few things, I had champagne
Now that beast gave me everything that nobody gave

I got high hopes, tomorrow came
And I won't look back on anything
I just found out that my bird can really sing

And it feels like summer again
I was thinking that it just might never begin
After winter and spring
It's good to have the sun on my face again

It feels like summer again
I was thinking that it just might never begin
After winter and spring
It's good to have the sun on my face again
