

Nothing to Find

The War on Drugs

Oh, I'm rising from within
I see it every morning
Tell me where the river ends

"Is it cold without my love?"
I whisper through the screen
And there is nothing I can say or do
No in between

Oh, and all these changes, I don't understand
I keep moving to the edge and now
Comes the feeling I can't stop
Laying motionless and dead
Oh, you said

You played my brother like fire
And walked him through the rain
I ignored another call
He did the same
But the feeling that I get
The warmth of your embrace
There is nothing I can do or find another way

It was all so innocent
You could feel my loving arms
Then I saw you in the moving light
You were standing in my door
Laying motionless and bored

All my waiting was in vain
I walked alone in pain
Through the early morning rain
Be the warmth to my embrace
Pull me underneath your shadow
Once before I get erased

But my love is on the line
I pushed it to the back
I kept sliding out of time
Now our moon is on the rise
There is always something bigger
Leaning on the other side, yeah

But you wanted me
On the wrong path
I've been hanging on the other side
Keep on pushing back

We belong here
I'll take all I can get
I've been hanging on the other side
I keep pushing back
