

Runaway

The Warning

Safe haven isn't safe at all
The game they're playing slowly starts to fall
Nothing's good, but nothing's truly bad
Your only option's going down this path
We keep building all these walls
And they love to see them fall
We were born to die
But you're not blinded by the light
You know what is wrong, what's right
You were born to survive

'Cause you don't need no revelation
You'll be fine with being lost
You don't need their sweet salvation
You'll survive without their luck

Run, run, run away, run away, child
If not from death, then run from life
Run, run, run away, run away, child
Escape the truth, destroy the lies
Don't worry about the other suicidal lovers
Psychopathic blood that spills
Run, run, run away, run away, child
From who you were, from who you are

Safe haven isn't safe at all
The game they're playing slowly starts to fall
Nothing's good, but nothing's truly bad
When you make your choice, there'll be no going back
We keep building all these walls
And they love to see them fall
We were born to die
But you're not blinded by the light
You know what is wrong, what's right
You were born to survive

'Cause you don't need no revelation
You'll be fine with being lost
You don't need their sweet salvation
You'll survive without their luck

Run, run, run away, run away, child
If not from death, then run from life
Run, run, run away, run away, child
Escape the truth, destroy the lies
Don't worry about the other suicidal lovers
Psychopathic blood that spills
Run, run, run away, run away, child
From who you were, from who you are

Run, run, run away, run away, child
If not from death, then run from life
Run, run, run away, run away, child
Escape the truth, destroy the lies
Don't worry about the other suicidal lovers
Psychopathic blood that spills
Run, run, run away, run away, child

From who you were, from who you are