

Show Me The Light

The Warning

Take my pain and despair and throw it away
Let them starve by themselves, let them decay
We don't need them anymore
When we crumble to the ground, we'll build ourselves up
When we're lost, we'll be found, please don't give up
On the things that we will have

Tell me how it feels like
Take off your disguise, show me the light
Bring me down into your level
Make me a rebel, the stealer of your heart

Stop the wait, here's your chance, try not to look back
Let's be free, show the world we'll turn out alright
What we need is what we have
The two of us, it's enough, let's make our own way
Let's forget yesterday, start over again
Take me far, don't think it twice

Tell me how it feels like
Take off your disguise, show me the light
Bring me down into your level
Make me a rebel

Hold me, please, never leave
I need a daily poisoning
Your words so deep cut into me
Whispers so loud, they're deafening
Hold me, please, never leave
I need a daily poisoning
Your words so deep cut into me
Whispers so loud, they're deafening

Tell me how it feels like
Tell me how it feels like

Tell me how it feels like
Take off your disguise, show me the light
Bring me down into your level
Make me a rebel, the stealer of your heart

(Hold me, please, never leave)
(I need a daily poisoning) The stealer of your heart
(Your words so deep cut into me)
(Whispers so loud) The stealer of your heart
