

Before The World Explodes

The Wind and the Wave

For every time you said this time I will be better
I believed you like a wet match in a dream
That's just some old lie somewhere from some old guy
Who never gave a shit about a thing
I don't want to live this way
Standing on your empty grave
Just looking for the next fork in the road
So make up your made or die
Cause I've got my own damn life
The worst of which I'm trying to let go

I said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
It's sad but I got nothing left in me
Said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
And nothing left except this memory
Of you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh

Some people get ahead and
Some people always lag behind
No matter what they do
Some of us turn and run
Some of us face whatever hurts the most
Whatever changes you
Whatever changes you and

I said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
It's sad but I got nothing left in me
Said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
Of you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh
Of you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh

How can a single moment
Always set you up for failure
How does the radio (the radio)
Know what I wanna hear
Right when I wanna hear it
Before the world explodes
Before the world explodes and

I said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
It's sad but I got nothing left in me
Said, boy, I'm already gone
I'm already gone
Of you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh
Of you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh, you-ooh-ooh
