

Different Game

The Zombies

I know that you've been lonely
Can see that you're in pain
Looking through the years
To when you were younger

God knows life seemed
Such a different game

I know you're feeling helpless
Can't seem to find that door
To open anymore
God knows it was crazy
Now seems such a cold and distant shore

You just wanna feel that same old thrill
You get bewildered when it's different still

Somewhere somehow someone must take the blame
It can't be you
Such a different game

I know you're feeling angry
You give it all you've got
Pushing through the years
You felt it was over
Now somehow it seems that it was not

You find that you're in trouble
'Cause nothing is the same
Someone has to pay for making you over
There must be someone to take the blame

You just wanna feel that same old thing
You get bewildered when it's different still

Somewhere somehow someone must take the blame
It can't be you
Such a different game
Such a different game
It's such a different game
Such a different game