

One other night we had everything
But tonight of all other nights
Somehow we lost it all
Something like a huge brick wall
Is keeping me from reaching out to you
It used to be easy, but not this time

Together one mess at a time
The agony, it's stretching us apart
Believe me I tried, believe me I tried
But it's still not enough now

Leave it behind, there's not much we can do
We're on a thin line, that's what I told you
Forget all the things, all our dreams go separate ways

All of the words that you write to me
Are not the ones that your heart would say
They might as well be all but lies
Why do you hide your secrets from me?
Is it the thing, oh, that I would say
That I won't keep on loving you?

Together one mess at a time
The agony, it's stretching us apart
Believe me I tried, believe me I tried
But it's still not enough now

Leave it behind, there's not much we can do
We're on a thin line, that's what I told you
Forget all the things, all our dreams go separate ways
Leave it behind, there's no place we can go
We're going the wrong way, and we both know
Forget all the things, all our dreams, and I say
Now it's time to go
All the things, all our dreams go separate ways

La-la-la...
Oh, but it's still not enough now

Leave it behind, there's not much we can do
We're on a thin line, that's what I told you
Forget all the things, all our dreams go separate ways
Leave it behind, there's no place we can go
We're going the wrong way, and we both know
Forget all the things, all our dreams, and I say
Now it's time to go
All the things, all our dreams go separate ways

La-la-la...
