

Spine

They Might Be Giants

I've been dragging my feet across my back
And I've been rubbing my head against my neck
And I've been walking my fingers through my mind
And I've been feeling this feeling in my spine
And I believe I'll be leaving it behind when I don't need a spine