

Five More Minutes

This Is A Standoff

This plane is going down in flames
and there's just no end in sight, because I'm thinking about the time before and the things i said last night.

I said I'm tired of pain,
I'm sick and tired of you,
I'm sick of feeling less than whole.

But all I want is five more minutes alone with you.
I wanna take it all back,
I'd say it all just wasn't true.

I hope you'll miss me someday,
I used to have your love but you can give it away.
I'll never see you alone,
no light will shine on your face.
I should have given up your space and found another way.

The sea is full of passion
but it's dried up and you'll see.
You tried to pull me up, oh yeah,
but there was nothing left for me.

I took a selfish way,
I took the wrong way back,
It took me all this time to know.

But all I want is five more minutes alone with you.
I wanna take it all back,
I'd say it all just wasn't true.

I hope you'll miss me someday,
I used to have your love but you can give it away.
I'll never see you alone,
no light will shine on your face.
I should have given up your space, and found another way.

I hope you'll miss me someday,
I used to have your love but you can give it away.
I'll never see you alone,
no light will shine on your face.
I should have given up your space.