Right Here Right Now

Thomas Anders

Tell me do you feel sad, are you worried or mad? Do you feel lonely every night? Well, if this is the case Put a smile on your face because I'm on my way to you, Here we are, just about to start it You and I can make it come true

For the very first time I feel this is divine And I am glad you're here with me We've got us and I know We have places to go All we've been dreaming of is real Here we are, just about to start it You and I can make it come true

Now that I have started the fire Now or never is finally here. I have every thing you desire So come with me, cause we -

Together in forever in the century of love
You and me are ready for the treasure from above
In the century of love
Together in forever in the century of love
You and me are ready for the treasure from above
You and me are ready for the treasure from above
You and me are ready for the treasure from above
in the century of love.

Right here, in the century of love
