We Wander Lonely

Thomas Giles

Eyes fold up from the day. Once alone in this crushing space The coast is clear for us to fill again The once impossible thought inside that I can't tear away Slowly impairs my fragile mind (We will) Drift in the dark as our lives flow by We are all lonely out here Drift in the dark as our lives flow by We are all lonely out here A twisted move with every step. The thought we can't explain. Do I even want to feel again? The snow pours in our minds, chilling all to the bone. Numbing us from what we once felt again. (We will) Drift in the dark as our lives flow by We are all lonely out here Drift in the dark as our lives flow by We are all lonely out here
