The Bad Guy (Reprise)

Thomas Sanders

Even when you think you've finally reached the ending
You might realize you've only been pretending
You only want to tell the story right
But you're haunted by the black and white
It's not as simple as you thought
But was it all all for not?

When the story drops you hard into the pavement
Even though you thought you knew what
"To behave" meant
But you find out you were thinking wrong
As you wind up back where you belong
And you try to get it right
But instead it just comes back to bite you

I never wanted to be the bad guy
The bad guy
The bad guy
I never wanted to be the bad guy

But that's just how the story goes
Yeah, that's just how the story goes

That doesn't have to be how the story goes...