

Kingdom Of Dust

Those Damn Crows

Kicking back in a hotel room
Time is not upon our side tonight
Out of sight
Sitting back watching her undress
The moment's gone, it feels like suicide
Run and hide

I thought what we had was stronger
Not often I'm wrong
Time's right, hindsight, it's all a mess

Cause I can find the rings we shared have turned to rust
Didn't even think about us
Cause I confess, I'm about to fuck things up
The kingdom has turned to dust
Never be the same again

If you could, does it mean that you should?
If the door was open would you walk away?
There's a price to pay
Out of mind, out of reach, out of luck
Could you give up, surrender all your worth?
Throw it all away

Like a moth to the flame
Watch it burn, feel the pain
Something changed, something died
As two worlds collide

The moment I did those things to ya
A new day, a new dawn
And I can't undo all of this

Cause I can find the rings we shared have turned to rust
Didn't even think about us
Cause I confess, I'm about to fuck things up
The kingdom has turned to dust
Never be the same again

The kingdom has turned to dust
Never be the same again
The kingdom has turned to dust

Like a moth to the flame
Watch it burn, feel the pain