Seven Days

Those Damn Crows

'Cause I'm fine, I'll bide my time
Watch the fall of you
Your ways for seven days, the shit you put me through

As I float, you will drown
As your world comes crashing down
'Cause you'll fall, you'll fall from grace
And I shall take your place

Seven days I walked through hell
Not a trace of sympathy for you
Can you hear the sirens calling?
Curtain call, your final warning
All the things that you do
Yeah, the joke's on you!

Time's up!
Admit you fucked up
The end is nigh for you
On and on like a train
'Cause your loss will be my gain
'Cause I've been watching
You've been living a lie
Do or die, three words I live by

Seven days I walked through hell
Not a trace of sympathy for you
Can you hear the sirens calling?
Curtain call, your final warning
All the things that you do
Yeah, the joke's on you!

Can you hear them?
Can you hear them?
Can you hear the sirens calling?
All the things that you do
Yeah, the joke's on you

'Cause I am far from perfect
There's errors in my ways
So close but too much distance
Waiting for the fear in your eyes as you see your demise
And as it falls apart you call me friend?
At times I thought I'd lose it
I saw your life decay
The cracks in your foundations are starting to give way
Now the tables have turned
Through your lessons I have learned

Can you hear the sirens calling?
Curtain call, your final warning
All the things that you do
Yeah, the joke's on you!

Can you hear them?
Can you hear them?
Can you hear the sirens calling?

All the things that you do
Yeah, the joke's on you!

I've been watching
You've been living a lie
Do or die, three words I live by
